- ❖ Newport Coast, California – 2- bedroom villas at Pelican Hill Resort - Known as the "Pacific Riviera," the intimate Newport Coast fringes the shimmering Pacific Ocean between Corona Del Mar and Laguna Beach. Gorgeous landscapes abound in this prestigious community and multiple nature trails wind throughout its carefully preserved open spaces. With an average of 340 days of sunshine per year, the weather is usually perfect for playing the area's two Tom Fazio-designed championship golf courses, cruising by luxury yacht from Newport Harbor, meandering among the art galleries of nearby Laguna Beach, or enjoying the prime surfing and sunbathing that Newport's spectacular Crystal Cove Beach offers. 6 guest occupancy
- ❖ Scottsdale, Arizona – 3- bedroom villas - This sun-soaked city in the Sonoran Desert is a world-renowned golfer's paradise—more than 200 courses add splashes of verdant green to the arid landscape. Situated just north of Phoenix, Scottsdale's boutiques, restaurants, and spas make for a worthy winter escape whether you play or golf not. Other attractions include miles of hiking trails that wind through the striking desert landscape and a historic downtown lined with galleries and restaurants. In recent years, the city's dining scene has flourished, offering bold flavors that pay homage to the city's Western roots. 6 guest occupancy
- ❖ Punta de Mita, Mexico – 3- bedroom villas - Punta de Mita is the Mexico you thought didn't exist any longer.
